LONDON, June 14.—Thousands of Allied warplanes hammered Nazi Europe from the west and south in shattering daylight blows designed to hamstring Nazi movements in four countries and support Anglo-American troops battling inland from the breaches of western France.

Two-Way Assaults
Western and southern Germany were battered at night in two-way assaults from Britain and Italy highlighted by the first night attack against Munich, birthplace of Nazism, by planes from the Mediterranean command.

Says Invasion Site Most Suitable For Allies Along Coast

By MAJ. PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially for N.S.)

NEW YORK, June 14.—There is still a very considerable lack of understanding and some layman criticism as to the place selected by the Allied Supreme Command for the first landing in the invasion of western Europe.

Most Suitable
Actually, the location chosen is the most suitable of any place on the European coast from Norway in the north to Spain in the south and the layman must remember one salient fact—no one has access to or is aware of the complete picture of invasion possibilities except the supreme commander. Only he can see all of the compiled military intelligence reports from all sources that give information about the country to be invaded.

The first governing factor of an assault against western Europe was that of the effective range of land-based fighter planes which must continuously support the landing and all future operations until fighter air bases are established in the newly captured territory.

The next necessity is to realize that no landing can be made unless the defense installations on the beaches are either put out of action.

ENEMY FLEET IS STILL IN HIDING

PEARL HARBOR, June 14.—America's great naval and air power concentrated in the Pacific poised for fresh and heavier blows against the enemy today after Admiral Chester W. Nimitz for the second time sent a mighty flotilla of ships and planes to smash Japanese military facilities in the Mariana Islands, 1,500 miles southeast of Tokyo.

Hunt Jap Fleet
Still boldly seeking a showdown battle with the Imperial Japanese fleet, United States carrier task forces plunged into the Marianas Saturday and remained in the vicinity of Japan's back door for three days, sinking or damaging 29 Jap ships and destroying 141 planes.

A large number of the enemy planes were destroyed in fierce air combat Saturday as Japanese aircraft rose to challenge swarms of aircraft released from the decks of the American flat-tops.

United States losses during the first day of conflict were 11 Hellcat fighters and eight pilots. Total

Washington Roundup

(International News Service)
In Washington today, military experts are canvassing the possibility German anti-invasion strategy might call for a withholding of mass counter-attacks against the Normandy beachhead until a major Allied force has been moved into the area.

The experts point out that under this plan a decisive German victory would have the effect of smashing the Allied invasion forces and securing the western perimeter of the European fortress for months to come.

At the same time, diplomatic observers believe President Roosevelt's statement on the economic warfare against Germany gives a clue to coming military operations of the Red Army. The President's references to cutting off Balkan and Norwegian supplies to Germany is taken as indication of an expected northern drive into Norway and a southern move into the Balkans.

While the world battles continue, the United States is preparing for the postwar era. The CAA discloses plans have been made to extend American postwar commercial air routes into every area of the globe. Twenty world routes are proposed covering 140,000 miles.

Meanwhile, the "GI bill of rights," providing a master plan of benefits for soldiers returning from the second world war, is on Pres. Roosevelt's desk awaiting his signature. It is expected to be law by the end of the week.

On Capitol Hill, some senators believe proposals that the Democratic and Republican conventions write identical foreign policy planks have been scrapped, while in the House two members say they wouldn't blame OPA chief Bowles for resigning if Congress finally approves a cotton pickup amendment to the OPA extension bill.

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, June 14.—American bombers were credited today with blasting eight more Japanese ships caught in the waters near Biak Island, simultaneous with an announcement that U.S. warplanes already are utilizing the newly-captured Mokmer airfield on that island in the Schouten group.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique, detailing the battering of the enemy shipping, failed to mention whether the planes which did the accurate bombing came from newly-activated Mokmer.

Seven of the enemy vessels—four 1,000-ton cargo ships and three coastal craft—were sunk outright and a 2,000-ton merchant vessel sunk or seriously damaged when the U.S. twin-engine Mitchell bombers swept to the attack in Gelvink Bay.

Villers-Bocage Taken By British

LONDON, June 14.—(INS)—A British armored force was reported today to have entered the French village of Villers-Bocage, seven miles east of captured Caumont.

Edward Gilling, Exchange Telegraph company correspondent with a British armored force, said the allied troops entered Bocage at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

To the People of this Community

Display of the flag and bond buying go hand in hand. You render only lip service when you hoist the national banner today and then do nothing to keep it a symbol of freedom.

In the invasion zones the men from this community know the full price of the American flag in blood and tears. To them it means their homes, their families and their very bodies. For the flag they die.

What better day than Flag Day for you at home, safe and comfortable far away from the screaming battlefields, to make a genuine sacrifice in buying extra War Bonds more than you ever bought before? Doff your hat to the flag and to the men who fight for it by going without even the suggestion of a luxury until the war is won, until our invading forces have torn into shreds the twin symbols of hatred and treachery, the Rising Sun and the Swastika.

Buy extra Bonds today, not for the profit that is in them, but for the practical patriotism they represent. That's the real way to observe Flag Day.

Yanks Cut Off Rear Guard Force In Italian Area

Powerful Pincers Clamped
On Nazi Expendables Left
To Battle Advance

GERMANS ATTEMPT MORE RESISTANCE

By LARRY NEWMAN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

NAPLES, June 14.—American troops of the Fifth Army clamped a powerful pincer today upon German expendables left to fight a desperate rear-guard action south of the Tyrrhenian coastal town of Orbetello only to be cut off when the Yanks severed their escape highway to the north.

Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's headquarters announced that the Americans on the coast had met "increased resistance" south of the town as the Nazis apparently sought to cover the northward flight of remnants of the disorganized 14th army.

Cuts Off Germans
"Our troops developed their strength in the mountains to the north and took the road junction of Highway One and Highway 74. Reconnaissance elements are moving farther north," added the communique.

The junction lies north of Orbetello and its seizure cuts off any German troops fighting in the sector to the south.

Advanced elements reached points 83 miles northwest of Rome.

Other Fifth Army troops, somewhat inland from the west coast, occupied Latera on the west shore of Lake Bolsena and continued on against strong enemy resistance toward Gradoli. To the east of the lake, Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's men moved on Bolsena.

Red Forces Are Driving Finns Back On Isthmus

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, June 14.—Red Army legions rolled the Finns steadily backward on the Karelian Isthmus today, having added at least five more important enemy strongholds to their list of towns captured since the drive opened four days ago.

The Moscow radio declared that the Finns were retreating so rapidly that they were abandoning towns and countryside in confusion. German and Finnish dead equipment and scraps of uniforms littered the route of the Russian advance.

"Soviet units advanced, suppressing resistance of Finns entrenched in long-standing defensive constructions and widely-developed field fortifications," declared the Russian communique.

Axis Claims New Drive
The official bulletin gave no indication whether there is any basis in fact for Finnish and German dispatches which reported heavy Red army attacks some 700 miles to the north. Enemy quarters told of new Russian blows on the Lissa sector, between Murmansk and Petsamo on the Arctic front, with strong reconnaissance activity some 250 miles further north.

Five most important places occupied yesterday by the Russians were Steklavanna, Kekrola, Ronunkylae, Vehmalmien and Silranmaki.

Besides capturing these points, the Red army seized large supplies of war material, and "dispersed and partly annihilated" a regiment of enemy infantry.

Only other action reported in the communique told of reconnaissance action northwest of Novosokolniki where following artillery preparation, Russian scouts broke into Nazi positions and wiped out a company of the enemy. With 12 prisoners in tow, the Soviets then returned to their own lines.

Salvage Need Of War At

PREPARE FOR CITY DRIVE SATURDAY

Visual and oral evidence of the vital need for salvaged materials was given in city hall Tuesday night when two motion pictures were presented and a number of short addresses heard by men and women interested in salvage. Present were representatives of the Lawrence County chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, the sponsoring body, industries, COD, Boy and Girl Scouts, wholesale and retail merchants and other interested groups.

The first picture was a pictorial record of what happened at Pearl Harbor, a grim reminder of why the United States is in this war. This was followed by "Behind the Winning Punch," a picture showing where the scrap is used, some German pictures were confiscated and some footage of the raid on Dieppe. The pictures were projected by Earnest D. Hawk.

Short Addresses

J. Fred Clarke, president of the Lawrence County chapter, PMTA, opened the meeting, thanked the guests for being present and promised that the PMTA would continue its co-operation in the war effort.

AN ADVANCED RECONNAISSANCE BASE U. S. Ninth Tactical Air Force, June 14.—Heavy German counter-attacks all along the allied line in France today pushed westward to the Cherbourg peninsula and drove back to a point within embattled Montebourg.

Reconnaissance pilots reported that the allied line now runs from Montebourg south to a locality west of Carentan, then east to the Cherbourg peninsula. The Germans are strongly resisting American attempts to break through the peninsula town of Montebourg and continue the march toward Cherbourg itself.

Violent Street Battle

In a violent see-saw street battle, Montebourg reportedly has changed hands several times. At last reports, however, air-borne and beach-landed divisions were edging steadily ahead in furious combat.

In the Carentan-Bayeux area, the frontline leveled off during the night but then began moving southward again to take Caumont and push still further ahead. Elements of a Nazi panzer division appeared by daylight on the southeast flank of the Caumont spearhead and intense fighting seemed in prospect there.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 14.—Four crack German mechanized divisions unleashed a savage counter-offensive against Allied forces in France today, gaining some ground in battles of steadily increasing violence.

The enemy counter-thrust was opened when Allied forces held more than 20 miles inside Normandy to seize the town of Caumont between St. Lo and Caen.

A little Norman French village that in the last census turned in a population figure of 861 moved into the forefront of war developments today when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced Allied capture of Caumont, 20 miles south of the French channel coast.

Amid reports of savage German counter-attacks at Caen, Montebourg and Carentan, the announced seizure of Caumont marked the deepest penetration yet made into interior France by the Allied armies.

The situation on the Cherbourg peninsula apparently was somewhat fluid with German tank thrusts forcing some changes in the Allied

Allied Planes Blast Munich

Italy-Based Planes Make
Night Raid On Railway
Yards At Munich

NAPLES, June 14.—(INS)—The railway yards at Munich, Germany, were blasted last night in the first night raid against the city of Nazism by Italy-based planes headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Ira C. Eaker announced today.

The night assault followed by only a few hours a daylight raid by heavy bomber forces from Italy against targets near Munich and at Innsbruck, Austria.

German opposition over Munich during both raids was heavy and at least 33 Nazi craft out of intercepting force of 125 were shot down there.

The Munich targets included two aircraft engine plants and an ordnance works and an aircraft assembly plant.

Medium bomber forces attacked shipping in the harbor of Livorno and also road and rail bridges in northern Italy.

Enemy bombers destroyed 55 enemy vehicles and damaged 83. The Mediterranean air force flew more than 2,000 sorties yesterday. Their total bag of German planes came to 35. Headquarters said 20 Allied heavy bombers and eight other craft are missing.

Names Postwar Planning Group

Governor Martin Completes Postwar Commission, Plans For Session

HARRISBURG, June 14.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's postwar planning commission was ready today to operate at full strength following the appointment of 10 members by Gov. Edward Martin.

The chief executive announced the appointments at his news conference late yesterday and said "I may call them next week for a meeting, but I'm not sure yet."

Named as chairman of the commission was Henry W. Prentiss, Jr., Lancaster businessman and former president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Other members of the commission were Mayor Charles R. Barber, of Erie; Mrs. Hannah M. Durham, of Allentown, vice president of the State Council of Republican Women; Dr. S. W. Fletcher, dean of Agriculture at Pennsylvania State College; Edward Hopkinson, Jr., Philadelphia lawyer; Thomas Kennedy, Hazleton, former lieutenant governor and secretary treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America; Dr. Weir C. Ketter, president of Grove City College; Ira F. Lewis, Pittsburgh Negro leader; Col. Richard Mellon, state director of Selective Service; and H. Melvin Vivian, Kingston, lumber dealer.

Mark S. James, of Pittsburgh, earlier named executive director.

Coordinate Studies

"Their job will be to coordinate studies made by municipalities, state departments and other agencies and to give priority on all things to be done," the governor explained.

The commission was established by the 1943 General Assembly and will operate under a long-range financial program embracing a proposed $50,000,000 bond issue.

The governor pointed out that it will study the development of Pennsylvania's three great water outlets, Lake Erie, the Delaware river and the rivers of the western part of the state which flow into the Mississippi river.

"Pennsylvania has something that no other state in the union has," he said, "access to the lakes, the ocean and the Mississippi river."

The appointments reflect the governor's personal views of the war in Europe because he has previously stated that he would not name the members until five months before he thought the war on the continent would end.

terranian. The night strike against military objectives in Munich was the second successive blow which followed by only a few hours a heavy bomber assault by daylight yesterday.

"Very strong" formations of Fortress and Liberator bombers early in the morning attacked many air-dromes and bridges in France and Belgium and the oil refineries at Emmerich, Germany.

Among the airfields bombed by the heavyweight craft were Le Bourget, the airfield serving Paris, Creil and Chateaudun in France, and Nurelbeck and Elmhove in Belgium.

The heavies were escorted by strong formations of Thunderbolts, Lightnings and Mustangs.

Start Day Attacks

Ninth air force headquarters announced that "very strong" forces of Marauder and Havoc bombers crossed the channel at dawn to assault communications and military objectives in France.

More than 500 fighters were out last night in offensive action over France. Three Nazi planes were downed. Ten of these allied fighters were reported missing.

Planes of the British bomber command, the air ministry announced, attacked unidentified targets in western Germany during the night and also laid mines in enemy waters.

According to a German broadcast heard by the blue network objectives at Recklinghausen and Essen were hit.

Londoners early in the morning watched hundreds of warplanes cross over the city. The roar of their motors aroused many from their sleep.

As the planes swept out the straits of Dover were sunny and cloudless. A light west to southwesterly breeze rippled the sea. Visibility was good.

If the early build-up of today's onslaught continues, space expert observers believe that this D-day plus eight may see the heaviest onslaught against the continent yet.

Earlier enemy transmissions indicated two-way night assaults by Britain-based and Italy-based aircraft.

Oil Refineries Reported Bombed

NAPLES, June 14.—(INS)—Strong forces of American heavy bombers today attacked seven oil refineries in Hungary and Yugoslavia, achieving "good results."

Lightnings hit Keckskemet airfield southeast of Budapest, while heavy bombers attacked the numerous refineries.

or smothered until the assaulting troops have dug into their first positions.

Controlling Factor

The second controlling factor is the shortest possible overwater supply and replenishment route, and it must be remembered that that route during the initial time of invasion must be protected by a night and day umbrella of fighter planes which again lies in the correct location of fighter plane bases.

Since those controlling factors are known to the enemy as well as ourselves and since it must be definitely assumed that at any place of landing the maximum degree of resistance would be encountered, then why not pick the point of landing which is to the greatest advantage of the attackers?

At no location on the west coast of Europe is that condition so admirably met as it is on the Cherbourg Peninsula. When that peninsula is squeezed off at the base, as it will be, it will give us a base of supply of at least 30 miles in depth, which is outside of the range of normal mobile artillery, and which has both flanks completely protected because they are water. Once that base and those airfields are established, the Allied invasion force may strike in any direction which strategy dictates to be best.

Short And Kimmel Extension Signed

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(INS)—President Roosevelt today signed the Congressional resolution extending for six months the time in which Rear Admiral Husband Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter Short, or any others, may be tried by courts martial for "dereliction of duty" in connection with the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Kimmel and Short were the naval and army commanders at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941.

The President approved the resolution, over the adverse recommendations of Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Forrestal

SAVE WASTE PAPER

Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchison, director of the State Council of Defense, announced today that the organization of scouting parties for locating crashed airplanes was being considered by the council. Hutchison said approximately 600,000 persons, including fire-fighters, Boy Scouts and Sportsmen's clubs, were available for quick mobilization. Civilian Defense has already assisted in locating persons lost in mountains, he said.

losses for the three days of the continuous operation, which embraced a vast expanse of ocean in enemy water, were 15 planes and 15 aircraft personnel. Admiral Nimitz communique made no mention of any damage to surface craft.

Jap Victims

Among the Jap vessels blasted to the bottom were one destroyer and three corvettes. Others definitely sunk included an oiler and seven cargo ships of Japan's dwindling merchant fleet.

The smashing carrier task force attack, apparently aimed primarily at the destruction of Jap shipping and planes, was leveled against Guam, Tinian, Saipan and Rota Islands with carrier war birds flanking out over the sea to blast enemy ships and planes.

"On June 10," said Admiral Nimitz' communique, "our fighter planes swept the objectives in force and destroyed 124 enemy aircraft. A large majority of these were destroyed in the air. Our losses were 11 Hellcat fighters and eight pilots."

Attacks Continue

"On June 11, our attacks were continued, resulting in the destruction of 16 enemy aircraft, two small cargo ships at Saipan and a small oiler northwest of Saipan."

By this time, the communique grouped a formation of Jap ships reported off Saipan apparently with the intention of making a run toward safety to the west.

The enemy vessel were brought under attack at once with one large oiler, one destroyer, three corvettes, one large cargo ship, one medium cargo ship and three small cargo vessels being destroyed. In addition, five medium freighters and five escort ships were damaged among the formation of fleeing enemy ships.

WAR LOAN DRIVE NOW UNDER WAY

This is the V loan, and Victory will be produced only by money, men and machines.

Workers Hustling

The house-to-house canvass is getting under way and those workers who are on the job are doing a good job. Retail sales personnel in the stores of the city are pressing bonds and stamp sales on customers, theatres are staging their own drive and the larger bond sales are being solicited.

But back of all this and underlying the success of the campaign will be the bonds that come from men and women without solicitation. You needn't wait for a solicitor to call. Stop at your bank, your theater, your store, they have them in sizes designed to fit your need and your pocketbook.

Rallies are being planned over the county to the purpose of engendering enthusiasm in the bond sales. What is needed just now is a lot of self starters.

U. S. infantrymen of Biak Island resumed their drive toward Borokoe, west of Mokmer airfield.

Six enemy planes, possibly operating from the Borokoe base, raided the American positions on Biak Island. They managed to inflict some casualties on the Yanks and damage an Allied vessel, before five were destroyed or probably knocked off by U. S. interceptors.

Other American bombers and fighters were active throughout the New Guinea-Bismarck Sea-Caroline Island area. Further successful night attacks the communique said, were launched against the Japanese airfield on Palau, guarding the eastern approaches to the Philippines.

Large explosions and giant fires visible for 30 miles were touched off by the bombs landed upon the Palau group.

Bombers Hit Truk

Four-motored Liberator bombers struck also at the Dublon township and two airfields in the Truk Atoll. The daylight raid ignited towering fires and inflicted considerable new damage on the Japanese installations at the much-vaunted main naval base of the Caroline group.

Still other Liberators hit the Saipan airfield in the Nomo group, west of Truk.

Some 20 Japanese interceptors challenged the Truk and Saipan raiders, but at least one and probably three of the enemy planes were destroyed by the American gunners.

Allied fighter planes accounted for another Jap plane—a reconnaissance plane shot down some 50 miles southwest of the northern Australian Port of Darwin. It was the first time in many days that an enemy aircraft was reported in that neighborhood.

Northwest of Morotai Island, in the Halmahera sector of Dutch New Guinea, a Japanese transport plane was caught and sent down in flames by Allied air patrols.

Britons Advance

German forces had been cleared from south of this stream, and advanced spearheads of the Allied army were beyond the Saline river at some points.

The trans-pennine battline runs from above Orbetello to Latina, thence to a point near Baisano, through the Narni and Avezzano sectors to the Adriatic coast above the Pescara river.

Naval activity was again reported in the Adriatic, with light British warships shelling the harbor of Lussin-Piccolo, while Royal Navy destroyers sunk one of four Nazi E-boats engaged off the Yugoslav shore.

Air Force Aids

The Mediterranean Air Force, flying some 2,100 sorties yesterday, continued to support the ground forces and smashed time and again at the enemy's communication lines. Light bombers and fighter bombers carried out assaults against Nazi motor transport moving north from the battle areas, while other medium bombers smashed shipping in Leghorn harbor and road and rail bridges in northern Italy.

Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring previously had elected to make a stand in the mountains 75 miles north of liberated Rome, cover withdrawal of battered remnants of his armies. His efforts appeared to have backfired.

PHYLLIS ADAMS WEDS PETTY OFFICER KOACH

Before an altar banked with palms, ferns and cydonium, and decorated with candelabra, white peonies and larkspur, Miss Phyllis Adams, daughter of Mrs. Charles Adams of Ellwood City, married Petty Officer Loyd Koach, U. S. C. G., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Koach of Wurtemburg, Rev. J. W. Gladden performed the double ring ceremony at the First Methodist church, Ellwood City, Monday afternoon.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, William E. Currie of New Castle, the bride was dressed in a marquisette gown with a fitted bodice of white satin, and a fingertip veil of illusion draped from a seed pearl tiara. She carried white roses, gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Averil Adams was her sister's maid of honor, wearing a dress of yellow lace and carrying an orchid ribbon bouquet of orchid larkspur and yellow roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Peggy Adams, another sister, and Miss Shirley Wilson, wore similar gowns of orchid and carried yellow ribbon bouquets of pink larkspur and roses.

Robert Powell, cousin of the groom, was best man, while Charles A. Adams of Linden, N. J., and Albert Boots of Ellwood City, were groomsmen. Miss Dorothy McCall was a bridesmaid, and Miss Julia Ferguson, sister of the bridegroom, were identical gowns, floor length of yellow net over taffeta and their colorial bouquets were double white daisies and babies'-breath. Decorative hats with matching net created by the bride, were worn by the attendants.

Pvt. Donald Ferguson of Harlingen, Texas, U. S. Air Corps, served his brother as best man. Ushers included Pvt. Richard McCall of Findlay, O., on furlough from Fort Blanding, Fla., and Richard Messhart, of Findlay, O.

The congratulatory period was followed by a reception for 150 guests at the Y. W. C. A. in Findlay, with the all white theme predominating.

The bride was graduated from Muskingum College, New Concord, O., this June, and the bridegroom was attending Muskingum College, when inducted into the U. S. armed forces. He will report to Lincoln, Neb., on June 22, where he will assume his new duties. Both Corp. David Ferguson and his brother, Pvt. Donald Ferguson are with the United States Army Air Forces.

Friday evening, June 16, Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Ferguson are holding "Open House" for the newlyweds and Pvt. Donald Ferguson, at their residence, 411 East Sheridan avenue. An invitation is extended to all friends to attend the reception.

FERGUSON-McCALL WEDDING IN OHIO

Prominent on the "June Bridal Calendar" is the wedding which took place in the United Presbyterian church at Findlay, O., on Tuesday afternoon, June 13, at 4:30 o'clock, when Miss Margaret Ann McCall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McCall, 844 Hurd avenue, Findlay, became the bride of Corp. David Anderson Ferguson, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Ferguson of Sheridan avenue, this city.

To nuptial music played by Mrs. Nelson Fisher, organist, guests filled the church to capacity and awaited the approach of the bride. She entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage, attractively attired in a white starched marquisette toe length gown made with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and edged in chantilly lace. The full hoop skirt was adorned with medallions of chantilly lace, and her veil of imported illusion fell from a Mary Queen of Scott chantilly lace crown. Her colonial arm bouquet was of white carnations, delphinium and feverfew.

Dr. D. L. Ferguson officiated with the double ring service, with Rev. E. E. Glass, the bride's pastor, assisting, before the beautifully empaneled altar.

As her sister's maid of honor, Miss Dorothy McCall wore a gown in aqua made similar to that of the bride's and carried yellow daisies and babies'-breath in a colonial arm bouquet. Bridesmaids, Miss Nancy McCall, another sister of the bride, and Miss Julia Ferguson, sister of the bridegroom, wore identical gowns, floor length of yellow net over taffeta and their colorial bouquets were double white daisies and babies'-breath. Decorative hats with matching net created by the bride, were worn by the attendants.

WALTER DeLILLO WEDS PEABODY DEAN

The marriage of Walter DeLillo, personnel manager and violinist of the Baltimore Symphony orchestra, to Miss Virginia Carty, dean of the Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore, was announced today.

Miss Carty and Mr. DeLillo were married June 2 by the Rev. Fr. C. C. Kerr, of St. William's Catholic church, in the chapel at Ten Hills, at Baltimore. The bride's father, J. W. L. Carty, and Roy Evans, piano teacher at the conservatory, were the only guests.

Both Mr. and Mrs. DeLillo formerly taught at Hood college and studied at the Peabody Conservatory. Mrs. DeLillo, who is from Frederick, Md., majored in piano at the conservatory and Mr. DeLillo, of 338 Laurel boulevard, New Castle, in violin.

Mr. DeLillo holds a certificate and a master of music degree from Peabody Conservatory, where he is a member of the staff. He has a daily radio program also. Mrs. DeLillo joined the Peabody staff as secretary of the school and became its dean seven years ago.

Because of the press of work, they have postponed their wedding trip until later in the summer. They are living at 101 West Monument street, Baltimore, Md.

Mr. DeLillo is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeLillo, of 338 Laurel boulevard, New Castle.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home to friends on the Wallace farm at Edinburg, R. D. 1.

Dinner of the L. A. B. club, which was scheduled for Thursday evening, has been postponed. Instead Mrs. J. C. Martin of Arlington avenue will entertain Friday evening.

JUNE BRIDE ELECT HONORED AT SHOWER

Miss Kathryn Young of West Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington, entertained a group of telephone operators of the Wilmington exchange Monday evening to honor one of their co-workers, Miss Elsie McCreary, bride-elect.

The event was in the form of a bedroom shower, with the entire setting taking the appearance of a "old fashioned hotel." Many lovely gifts were cleverly presented the honoree. Preceding, music and dancing were diversions. A tasty lunch was served at a late hour by the hostess.

Miss McCreary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McCreary of New Castle, R. D. 5, will become the bride of Wilbur Robison, son of Mrs. J. Robison of Mahoningtown, R. D. 7, this month, the date to be announced.

Stars And Stripes

On June 14, 1777, one hundred and sixty-seven years ago, the Congress of the United States adopted the Stars and Stripes as the national flag. It was at a time of grave national stress. There was no certainty that the little nation, striving for a cohesion for which it had not been trained, would survive. The Stars and Stripes stood for a reach toward Union, an aspiration that was not achieved without a bloody civil war nearly ninety years later.

Through the intervening years, more than a century and a half, this nation has become unified under the Stars and Stripes. The flag is emblematic of all that this people has striven for and will strive for. Its brightness represents the unselfish work of citizens and the sacrifices of patriots.

Every country has a flag. The home lands of this nation's enemies unfurl banners and the warlords who rule them seek to whip up morale by investing them with a great glory. But Old Glory comes nearer inspiring people everywhere than any banner which waves. The Stars and Stripes basically represents the true aspirations of the vast majority of humankind.

Old Glory waves in triumph over the land of the free and the home of the brave. Tens of millions of people today would like to see it wave over their own lands as a symbol of rescue and as a guarantee that the American type of freedom is established for them.

The Stars and Stripes is the banner of forces trying to make every land the land of the free. And under its beneficent folds the home of the brave is contriving the strength for that task.

We Must Scrap No Ships

Joseph P. Kennedy, former head of the Maritime commission, also former ambassador to Great Britain, has put forth the amazing suggestion that we scrap millions of tons of excess merchant ships after the war.

It would be an error of the first magnitude to adopt such a policy declares the Philadelphia Inquirer. After World War I we did precisely what Mr. Kennedy now suggests. We junked a great war-built merchant fleet, though part of it was left for a time to rot in neglected anchorages. Then it too joined the flow of scrap to Japan.

In the Twenties we ditched a well considered naval program, much of it far advanced. From both of these monumental mistakes we have reaped a grievous harvest. The ideas of Mr. Kennedy sound ominously like those we may be sure we shall hear of sooner or later from some among us, demanding constriction of the American Navy again to a dangerously inadequate force after this war.

Fortunately Mr. Kennedy's strange proposal is ably rebutted by Admiral Emory S. Land, present head of the Maritime commission. He says that our excess vessels will neither be scrapped nor allowed to rot and rust into uselessness, but can be maintained in good condition at an annual expense of about $4,000,000.

Our costs for a merchant fleet, much of it war created, aggregate $18,000,000,000 to date. That alone makes apparent the utter folly of any scheme to destroy it, or a substantial part of it. Sea power is two-armed—fighting ships and merchant ships. We must preserve both to maintain the strength of our national defenses to the utmost against every possible peril the postwar future holds. We must scrap no ships.

Pattern And Portent

Many a German bunker or fortified battery on the coast of France was smashed by direct naval gunfire, but at least one vital strong point was taken without the dropping of a bomb or the firing of a cannon. The story of the operation is significant.

The strong point in question was a heavily protected battery built into a hilltop which commanded one of the main invasion beaches. It had to be silenced before the beach could be used for landing Allied troops.

Weeks before the invasion, Allied reconnaissance planes had made a thorough photographic study of the battery. A full-scale model was constructed in England and specially selected air crews, glider pilots and parachute troops studied the best method of attacking it. After painstaking rehearsals they were ready for the task when the time came.

Immediately before the invasion, the paratroopers were dropped within striking distance of the battery. They immediately engaged the defenders, occupying the attention of the garrison. Meanwhile the gliders swooped in and landed more airborne troops directly on top of the battery under the covering fire of the paratroopers. It didn't take long to finish the job with Tommy guns and flame throwers. The battery was silenced when the landing barges hit the beach.

The assault on the battery indicates that the strongest points have their weaknesses. Perhaps the same operation can never again succeed in exactly the same way, but certainly it sets a pattern which can be modified and adapted as circumstances require. Control of the air adds a tremendous weapon to the Allies' arsenal of attack.

Inexorable Tax Law

Congress moved with almost unheard-of speed in revising the cabaret tax downward from 30 to 20 per cent and sending the measure to the President for his signature.

The New Deal's genius for taxing has been flitting with the law of diminishing returns for years. Every time a protest has been made, the sages of the Treasury department have retorted with condescending phrases.

The theory behind the 30 per cent tax on night clubs was the same as that applied in the taxation of liquor, which is taxed about 500 per cent, and in the taxation of cigarettes, taxed more than 100 per cent. People can do without such things, New Dealers argue, therefore let's hike the tax again and again and again.

But there is a lesson in it. When the night club tax bounced upward to 30 per cent, trade fell off sharply. Even those who are supposed not to give a hang for a dollar resented paying a third more in the nature of a tax gouge. And cafes all over the country began firing entertainers and closing their doors. The tax promptly threatened to cost the government more than it brought in.

There is a moral to the episode. And surely Congress has learned it by now. The New Dealers have proved that they can spend and spend. But they have proved there is a limit to tax and tax and tax.

Rommel is reported to have had little sleep since the invasion started, and if Hitler has had nothing but tantrums, that, too, is understandable.

The Japs know they cannot win the war by taking Changsha, or any other Chinese city, but they are badly in need of relieving the face lost in the Southwest Pacific.

Washington Calling

Nazi Super Brains Puzzled

WASHINGTON, June 14.—There are times when it seems to me that the enemy we face in Europe has been built up to be bigger than life size. Take the belief, for example, that a supremely intelligent, completely ruthless group of Germany's leaders is already planning for the next war.

Now that may be so. The men with the cold, inhuman faces, the monolithic firmly fixed in the dead fish eye may at this moment be sitting around a conference table debating how to end this war, which is lost, in order to start preparing for the next one which they would hope to win.

Judging from the latest Gallup poll, a great many Americans accept that picture and maybe it's a healthy thing that they do. Perhaps we remember this time keep some discipline in the world so that the little bully isn't allowed to become a world-shattering monster.

Problem Faced

Accepting the picture of the deadpan faces, the men with the super brains and the atrophied hearts, seated around a conference table, what they must be discussing at this moment is in the German propaganda phrase, "disengagement" or "disengagement" of a division or of an army, as first in Russia and now in Italy, but something much bigger.

The problem for the dead pan now is how to disengage the Reich itself with the least possible damage to future war potential. Will it be September or October, or the day after tomorrow?

The decision, if the super brains looked at it with the completely cold objectivity which they are reputed to possess, might well be for "cutting it once. You can hear the arguments around that table at the private headquarters, or possibly, in the castle of one of the great Junker families.

"If we were to quit now," the cold voice would say, "we would cause the utmost political and economic confusion in the United States. There is already great uncertainty and deep inner conflict in that mongrel country; this is the super brain thinking away, but our sudden capitulation would greatly enhance it.

Emphasize Propaganda

"We would then emphasize in our propaganda, and our sympathizers in America would take it up, that we had wanted only security in Europe; that Roosevelt was determined on an adventure of conquest. As you well know, our agents inform us that some Americans already believe this convenient myth.

"But then, gentlemen, there is an even more hopeful prospect. If we capitulate suddenly in the west, it is possible that the occupation of the Fatherland may be carried out by the Americans and the British rather than by the barbarians from the east.

"By capitulating now, we will save eight to ten million fanatical Nazis who can never be converted to democracy. What will our American and British friends do with them? They have not the slightest idea. They are divided among themselves on this question. They even permit Nazis in their prison camps to send home propaganda. How extraordinarily simple and foolish..."

Other Argument

The argument on the other side would be to compel us to destroy men and future war potential. The time is out and for the still for the stadium. This is the only real hope that Germany's rulers have for the present.

If such an argument is going on today, it must be at the very top. The general staff has plenty to do without engaging in a debate on the long future. The nightmare of a two-front war which may become a three-front or a four-front war is with them.

We've been told very little, actually, about the invasion. We're hoping and praying that out of the thunderous confusion of the Normandy peninsula the way will be cleared to eventual victory. But, if Americans are confused, think of the Germans and yes, even those who are up there.

They don't know whether this is the main offensive. They don't know where other offensive will come or how powerful they will be. And that is exactly how our military planners planned it.

This is our time. Let's not throw it away either tomorrow or next year or 10 years from now.

CHARD

Chard ranks away up high among the greens. It is even better than carrots. It has a lot of vitamins of many different kinds.

It is also strong on minerals. Spinach which a good reputation for iron but chard has even more of it. Chard does not supply very much nourishment. By preparing it with other things, nourishment may be added.

Mother can do all up chard in so many different ways that Dick will eat it without thinking whether he likes it or not.

Chard does not seem to be so well known as some of the other greens but it is right there with the goods.

Hints On Etiquette

It's fine if two people lunch together, going "Dutch treat." Don't, however, fight over settling items on the bills.

The World and the Mud Puddles

"PRENCINRADIO" AND OCIAA

Eleanor Patterson is the owner and editor of the Times-Herald, Washington, D. C., which is the leading newspaper of the Nation's Capital in circulation at least, if not in influence. Another member of the family is J. M. Patterson, publisher and principal owner of the New York News, which has by all odds the largest circulation of any newspaper in the nation, circulating more than two million copies of the News every week day and nearly four million copies on Sundays.

The third member of the family is Colonel R. R. McCormick, president and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, which has the next largest circulation of any daily newspaper published in the United States. Each of these three people are very much opposed to the present administration in Washington. They have no love for Franklin D. Roosevelt or any of his works.

The Washington lady is probably the most critical of the three. In her Washington newspaper she published a clever story recently, written by one of her staff—John O'Donnell. It is worth re-publishing here it is:

"We have a hunch it won't be long before the American people become familiar with a strange word. The word is 'Prencinradio' which is basic New Deal gibberish in the Spanish tongue, being a synthesis of the Spanish words of press, cinema and radio.

"More importantly, 'Prencinradio' may well become a symbol of the behind-the-curtain sickness with which the Administration's pet agencies—in this case it is the crackpot, wasteful office of the co-ordinator of inter-American affairs headed by the well-meaning young Mr. Nelson Rockefeller—have been setting up secret corporations, deliberately concealed from Congress and the people, to carry out Roosevelt policies by Administration jobholders.

"The Senate was called upon to investigate a mysterious 'Prencinradio' Inc. after its OCIAA strange pattern had been disclosed by the Wall Street Journal. Mr. Rockefeller's outfit is loathe to say anything about its baby, or the circumstances of its birth, or what the child has been doing in the two years of its existence.

"But as the Senate learned from Nebraska's Senator Butler, Rockefeller's office specifically requested Senator Butler to refrain from mentioning the existence of 'Prencinradio' when he reported on the inter-American affairs office a few months ago. It is also true, that the very name 'Prencinradio' has been mentioned only once in a government publication. That was when, by mistake, the name of the secret corporation appeared in a list of Government agencies. After the OCIAA had requested that it be omitted.

"Just what 'Prencinradio' has been doing as a Government corporation will make very interesting reading—particularly to our good neighbors in Latin America. It must be interesting because the boys certainly wanted to cover up and have a free hand. As Senator Butler pointed out, 'Prencinradio, Inc.' is among those government agencies under Nelson Rockefeller, which 'enjoy freedom from control by the Budget Bureau and the Congress over their administrative expenses and are not audited by the general accounting office.'

"When the slick boys appeared in Delaware two years ago and tried at Charter for 'Prencinradio, Inc.' there was nothing in the papers to indicate that it was a Roosevelt Administration setup of tremendous scope and power—which it most certainly was. Three Delaware citizens were named as incorporators and there was no mention of either Nelson Rockefeller or his agency of any official of the OCIAA.

"The powers of Administration-owned 'Prencinradio' according to the charter may be exercised without limitation as to the amount or value and whether within or without the United States of America. Which certainly takes in a lot of territory.

"Among the sweeping powers given the mystery agency is 'to make produce, edit, publish, exhibit, broadcast or distribute motion pictures.' (Continued on Page Seven)

"Please give information on the arrangement of the living room for a home wedding ceremony."—M.A.N.

Answer: At one end of the room wherein the ceremony will occur, place a table to be used as an improvised altar. On the table at a white cloth made of linen or a lace runner, and at each end put tall white candles, flanking a low centerpiece of flowers.

In front of this improvised altar place either a prie-dieu if you have one or instead, a white satin pillow on which the bridal couple may kneel side by side.

Choose the most attractive spot in the room for this improvised altar, and behind it arrange floral decorations, such as palms, evergreen, huge sprays of dogwood, etc., bearing in mind that this will be the focal point of interest in the room.

If expense is no object, you may rent from a florist small posts decorated with greens and flowers, to be used to mark an aisle from the doorway to the place of the ceremony—the path to be followed by the bridal party.

The guests should arrive about 15 or 20 minutes before the time appointed for the ceremony. They should, on arrival, be greeted by the parents of the bride and the groom who should stand near the living room door.

When everything is ready for the ceremony, one usher, if there are any, should escort the bride's and another usher should escort the bridegroom's mother to their places in the front line of guests (the bride's mother on the left and the bridegroom's on the right as usual).

The ushers should then proceed to take their places in the bridal party forming in the upstairs hall.

Truman Charges In New Haven Cause Uproar
Claim Of Republicans Playing Politics Bad
Bitter Presidential Campaign Is Predicted

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The tumult and shouting stirred up among Republicans by Senator Harry S. Truman's New Haven, Conn., speech is only now beginning to rise to crescendo. And there are even some moderate Democrats who feel Truman went too far in accusing Republican leaders of playing politics in the midst of war by lighting the New Deal.

First result of the charges made by the mild-mannered chairman of the Senate was investigating committee may be a let-down in committee harmony. Truman, of course, tossed a grenade in committee ranks by accusing the Republican of using disclosures of the committee as political ammunition.

Henceforth, if Truman's speech is a pace-setter, the air will be blue with a pre-campaign barrage of political invective.

It is understood that most of the southern Democrats in both Senate and House are vexed that the Missouri senator should have started "hitting below the belt." That is what they consider impugning the patriotic motives of the opposition during a political campaign.

Bad Precedent Set

The Republicans are expected to strike back at Truman's charges very soon, over the radio and from the rostrum and in public meetings and public halls.

There was general surprise that Truman, usually gentle and restrained, should have authorized such a blast at President Roosevelt's political foe.

"He has gone too far," one southern senator said. "He has set a bad precedent that may lead to a campaign of accusations in the midst of war—a campaign we southern Democrats do not wish to see."

WHO'S LAUGHING NOW?

Back in 1942 when President Roosevelt called for the production of 125,000 planes a year, Axis propaganda sources gave out the horse laugh, calling the figure fantastic and impossible.

In a strictly literal sense, the Axis turned out to be partially right, for American plane production reached only 47,873 planes in 1942, went to only 65,846 in 1943 and is expected to top 100,000 planes this year.

Plane Production Figure

There is small comfort to the Axis in these figures, nevertheless. Since 1942, plane designs and construction have changed rapidly and the emphasis on planes needed has risen rapidly in the direction of heavier and more complicated combat models. For instance, 77 per cent of the planes built in American factories now are combat craft and only 7 per cent are light trainers. In 1941, 48 per cent were trainers.

And now here is the horse laugh in reverse for the Axis propaganda. The 85,946 planes made in 1943 are equal to 122,000 of the type made in 1942 and the 100,000 for 1944 will equal 167,000 of the 1942 types.

TOKYO COMMUNIQUE WRITERS never have displayed any respect for facts, but nine times out of 10 they have "scored" the United States. War and Navy departments of initial announcements about action by our fleet and air forces.

That is why Washington newsmen watch closely Tokyo propaganda broadcasts for "tips" on where action is occurring, and then they wait for official confirmation to learn what actually happened.

WITH GUNS BLAZING and a prayer in his stout heart, this American fighter is hell-bent on destruction of our enemies. HE is not thinking of how little or how much he's doing to help win the war. For him, the chips are down; but his fighting spirit is as high as the heavens from which his plane is diving.

In cramped foxholes and disease-infested jungles, on sun-scorched beachheads—under and over the seven seas—other Americans are matching his courage. And their name is legion. They KNOW that war is a bloody business; that

Girl Scouts' Work Has Threefold Goal

Money Received From Scrap Paper Drive Will Eventually Be Used For Girl Scouts Camp

When Girl Scouts are working on the scrap paper drive, they are knocking down three birds, not just two. In the first place, they are helping to collect the much needed paper, and in the second place, the money which the troops have earned from the first two drives will be used for the third drive.

But the third thing accomplished will be for the scouts themselves, says Mrs. Marjorie Miller, scout executive. When the bonds are redeemed, the money will be used for the improvement of the Girl Scout camp site which at the present time has nothing on it but a cabin.

The camp site, near Slippery Rock on the New Hope road is almost inaccessible, but because of the scarcity of men and materials, will have to wait until after the war for road improvement. It will be the first camp ever owned by Girl Scouts of Lawrence County.

The local delegation will leave New Castle Monday evening and return the following Saturday. While at Ontario they will make the General Brock hotel their headquarters.

Attitude Of Some Of French Puzzles
By JOHN WILHELM
(Reuter's Staff Correspondent)
(Distributed by I. N. S.)

WITH AMERICAN ADVANCE FORCES IN NORMANDY, June 12 (Delayed)—One of the puzzles of the Allied invasion has been the attitude of some of the native French towards their supposed liberators.

Reports of French women shiping at Allied troops have arisen so repeatedly and from such diverse sources that it would appear at least some element of truth is present.

It is definitely true that signal corps men stringing communication wires have been hit by snipers' guns in cities where a thorough search disclosed only native French.

This has aroused a good deal of bewilderment and indignation among Allied soldiers, who had been led to believe that the whole French population was anxiously awaiting their liberation from the Germans.

Harmony District Soldier Is Killed
Private George Boyer, Jr., aged 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Boyer, Sr., of Harmony, R. D. 1, was killed in action while serving with the infantry in the Southwest Pacific on May 20. It was announced by the War Department Tuesday.

The Harmony infantryman was serving in the New Guinea area and had been stationed in Australia before going to his new assignment. He entered the service May 3, 1943, and had been on foreign service since January.

Private Boyer leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Boyer, Sr., and a brother, Robert Boyer, of Harmony.

Cleveland School

CLEVELAND, June 14.—(INS)—Fifteen fire companies today battled a five-alarm blaze of undetermined origin that swept the upper floors of Dunham elementary school of Cleveland's east side.

James F. Brown, director of schools, indicated that the loss might exceed early estimates of $50,000.

League park, home of the Cleveland Indians and across the street from the school, was not threatened by the flames.

Gen. Marshall Is

LONDON, June 14.—(INS)—King George VI today received Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army, and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the American Air Forces, at Buckingham Palace.

The American military leaders and the king had a lengthy chat.

Parachuting Parson In Carentan Sector

Family Receives First Word Of Chaplain Hall Through News Dispatch From France

In the midst of the artillery and machine gun fire around Carentan in France, was Chaplain Raymond Hall, the "parachuting parson" whose wife, the former Mary Elizabeth Fankhauser, and two sons are now in New Castle.

An interview with a newspaper correspondent printed yesterday was the first word the chaplain's family had received from him for weeks. He and the correspondent lay in an advance observation post watching allied artillery fire destroy some German pillboxes that had been a menace to the American boys. "It's hell," the parson said, and he really knows, for according to doctors and stretcher bearers on the scene, Chaplain Hall had stayed in the front line assisting the medical corps in any way he could.

Chaplain Hall, the son-in-law of Mrs. Albert Fankhauser of Hazel-croft avenue, preached at St. John's Episcopal church in Lowell, Mass., before enlisting in the army. He won nation-wide fame shortly after entering by learning to jump along with the paratroopers.

He landed in the Carentan sector by parachute, along with the United States assault troops assigned there.

Rumor Monger
In Action Here
War or peace, it makes no difference, the rumor monger and his king sized mouth are on the job. He was busy in the first world war, he kept his amateur standing in the peace years and in this war he is busy again.

The current piece of false propaganda is that merchants are cashing war bonds for customers at a heavy discount. Or, the merchants are taking war bonds for merchandise, giving the customer credit for only a fraction of the value of the bonds.

Of course it's false, but that is typical of the rumor monger. Any person with only a modicum of intelligence knows that war bonds cannot be cashed in by any agency but the United States government, through the post office. The bonds can't be sold to other people, can't be reassigned, they can't even be given away for the recipient couldn't cash them.

If one of the mouth-to-ear boys slides up to you on the street and whispers there's a racket in cashing war bonds by merchants, either touch him firmly on the knicker, or ask him to prove his statement.

Young Girl Killed
Due To Jealousy
SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 14.—(INS)—Carolyn Bennett, 14-year-old daughter of city councilman Robert Bennett was shot to death today in a lonely section of Forest Park and police arrested a 15-year-old boy who allegedly admitted killing her because he was jealous.

The boy, according to police, told them he shot Carolyn four times while he was riding her on the handlebars of his bicycle.

Police said he told them he was jealous because of Carolyn's interest in other boys. The boy, according to Gallagher, will be arraigned on a murder charge in district court today.

Poles Recognize

LONDON, June 14.—(INS)—The Polish government in exile today extended formal recognition to Gen. Charles De Gaulle and the French Committee of National Liberation as the present government of France.

A representative of the French organization received a note announcing the Polish regime's recognition of the FCNL as the provisional government of France, tendered by high-ranking officials of the Polish group.

Fifth War Loan Part Of Second Front Invasion

By LOWELL THOMAS

I think we should all regard the Fifth War Loan drive as a part of the Second Front invasion. Over there American soldiers have the military task to be done with steel and explosive, bitter combat and unflinching heroism. Over here we are confronted with the financial phase, which is a necessary part of the critical and perilous effort for final victory.

It has been pointed out all along that the dollars of the civilian collaborate with the bullets of the soldier. This now becomes true in the most pointed and dramatic way. When we buy bonds in the Fifth War Loan drive we are actively taking part in the Second Front invasion. That stupendous effort of war and valor is many times as great as the blows we have struck in the past. The sacrifice of our troops must be many times as great, and so must our purchase of bonds. What is required of us is the least that can be asked—that we buy twice as much.

If we buy bonds to the utmost of our means, we are good citizens backing the best of soldiers. If we fail, we are unworthy citizens, letting down the bravest of the brave.

Indiana Pledges Support To Dewey

INDIANAPOLIS, June 14.—(INS)—Twenty-six of Indiana's 29 delegates to the Republican national convention Tuesday afternoon voted on record as favoring the nomination of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for president.

Two other delegates were absent and one declined to vote.

The count was made in a secret ballot of delegates at the insistence of Robert W. Lyons, former Indiana Klan leader and head of the Hoosier Dewey forces.

Lyons, who has been under fire of G. O. P. leaders and editors because of his past affiliation with the hooded order, had demanded that the poll be taken as one of the conditions for his resignation as Indiana member of the G. O. P. national committee.

He resigned immediately following the vote.

Offers Building For Waste Paper Storage

GROVE CITY, June 14.—A. J. Schell of the Bashlin Co. has offered the use of his Pine street building as a collection headquarters for the paper salvage drive. As local salvage chairman, he is receiving collections of Junior Commandos, averaging 15,000 pounds monthly, but hopes to step up the effort by asking citizens to bring waste-paper to the building at any time. Adequate storage space has handicapped previous paper drives, and the new system will be welcomed in the community.

CRIMINAL COURT OVER

Here today and gone tomorrow is the record of the criminal courts in Lawrence county in the past two years. The term which opened Monday closed Tuesday and the jurors were paid off.

All jurors called for next week have been notified not to appear.

Only two cases were tried.

A verdict was had in the case against James Ross he being found guilty. If this verdict sticks, it appears that Mr. Ross may have fished himself up in fine style. This is the fourth time he has been before the Lawrence county court for a felony and under the law a person convicted of four felonies in five years, not counting the time they spent in jail, may get life. Without that provision of the Act of 1929, the court has authority to double the maximum sentence of a previous felony.

Ross has been before the court four times in eight years. In December 1937 he was sentenced to Huntington of three counts of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and went to Huntington. In June, 1939 he was up for intent to commit robbery and went to the Allegheny county workhouse. In September, 1940 he was up on two counts of burglary and now the present three counts of burglary.

If the present verdict sticks and he is sentenced, it would be possible for the district attorney to bring an indictment against him charging that he was a fourth offender. This would mean a life sentence if the court was so inclined.

COMPULSORY NON-SUIT

A compulsory non-suit was granted in the case of Samuel D. Cox against Alfonso Scarazzo, and Frank and Fortunato Sparano. The plaintiff claimed damages for injuries incurred when he stepped into a delivery hole in the sidewalk in front of Sparano's cafe on Liberty street.

The case of Ida M. Finnegan against the City of New Castle for damages for personal injuries sustained when her car was hit by a fire truck was continued until the fall.

COUNTY COMMITTEE MEETING

The Lawrence County Democratic committee will hold its biennial organization meeting Saturday afternoon in court room number one.

While there is no announced candidate for chairman against Chairman John B. Shaw who is a candidate for re-election it is understood a candidate will be produced by the time the meeting is under way.

Less Ball Bearings For Nazi Machines

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(INS)—An agreement was reached Tuesday between the United States and the Swedish SKF company which is expected to substantially reduce exports of SKF ball bearings to Germany. It is also expected to prevent the exportation of any types that might be useful to the German war machine.

The state department is planning to make an official announcement to this effect within the next 24 hours.

The agreement, which was made with SKF, rather than with the Swedish government, calls for reduction of ball bearing exports to Germany to the level of 1939, when they had a value of about 34 million dollars.

This was a sharp reduction from last year's exports to Germany, which were slightly over 240 million dollars.

A NORWICH PRODUCT

Entire German Panzer Regiment Is Annihilated

Editor's Note: Annihilation of a German panzer regiment which attempted to break through a gap in the British lines near Breville, France, is described in the following eyewitness story by Leonard Mosley.

By LEONARD MOSLEY

WITH BRITISH SIXTH AIRBORNE DIVISION, France, Monday, June 12.—(Delayed)—Paratroop Captain Charles Bliss has that grin on his face that always means something brewing.

"This," said Charles, "is going to be good. Do you remember the gap we left in our lines just around Breville? Well, Jerry's found it at last and he's coming through. We have a report of at least 600 panzer grenadiers advancing through the woods and believe that they're trying to drive through Ranville to break our line and gain the east bank of the river. Well, what we are going to do those Jerry's should make a nice little story for you, Look."

British Ready
He pointed along the walls and through the orchards and when you looked hard you could see British troops everywhere.

They were well dug in among bushes and grass, and only the green camouflaged tops of their helmets poked above the skyline—that and the muzzles of their Brens, heavy machine-guns and Stens.

It was just before noon that we saw our first Germans. Over there on the other side of the dropping zone you could suddenly see figures moving among trees. We watched them forming up into batches of 10 to 15 men.

Shortly after noon the German attack began. In those batches of 10 and 15 spread out over 200 or 300 yards, the German infantrymen came in at a run. Then, they fell on their faces and lay there. After a few minutes they got up again, ran forward, then fell flat again. It went on like that for about 400 yards. Still, no one fired. Now the enemy was gaining confidence from the stillness. He kept on coming until he was about 100 yards away. Then at a pre-arranged signal every automatic weapon, every rifle in the paratroops line opened up.

You suddenly saw the Germans grinning wildly, clutching their bodies, throwing up their hands, then falling by the dozens into the corn. Then they all flung themselves down and the British paratroops continued their fire.

Make New Attempt

But the Germans weren't beaten yet. One of their officers rose to his feet and called to his men, and those still not wounded charged once more.

This time the paratroops held their fire even longer, and it was 25 to 30 yards now when the small arms barrage hit the enemy.

With cool, superb and absolute discipline, fingers squeezed triggers almost simultaneously, and down in withering heaps went the Germans again. And now the remnants who remained alive turned and began to flee.

Back in the woods those Nazi troops who had made it were joined by reinforcements, and there, among green shadows, they reformed and planned how to get up.

But they were not to be given the chance. All through the woods, hidden in trees, ditches and silt trenches, the camouflaged British paratroops were waiting for them. Around 4 o'clock a squadron of Sherman tanks rumbled up to where most of the Germans were concentrated, and poured a five-minute barrage from their big guns into the trees.

The Germans turned and began to retreat. Their retreat was the wrong way for them, and once more it was massacre. Sten gun bullets hit them from such close range they were torn to pieces.

On Sunday morning the Germans came and tried again to blast through to Ranville. Once more they came in batches, and once more the British mowed them down.

I went into the woods to see the blood and jetsam this short but bloody war had left. Everywhere was death. At least 400 had been killed and nearly 2,000 made prisoners. And in breaking the whole of German regiment and capturing its commander, British losses did not number over 50 all-told, including wounded.

Local Corporal Wins Bronze Star

Thomas Barber Extinguishes Fire Started By Japs In New Britain Ammunition Dump

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Fearless action in extinguishing an ammunition dump blaze started by Japanese dive bombers on New Britain has won for Marine Corporal Thomas E. Barber the Bronze Star Medal.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Barber, West Washington Street Extension, New Castle, Pa., the 24-year-old corporal was a football star at the University of Chattanooga. He was twice named to the All Dixie Conference and once named on the Little College All-America team.

The citation, signed by Vice Admiral T. C. Kinkaid in the name of the "heroic and meritorious service in combat," and stated that his "courageous and unhesitating action" saved the dump area and further bombing and probable destruction.

A veteran of Guadalcanal, Barber enlisted December 10, 1941, at Nashville, Tenn. Before attending the University of Chattanooga, he was graduated from Martins Ferry, O. High School.

His citation follows: "For heroic and meritorious service in combat against the enemy when Corporal Barber was serving as a communications man. During heavy ground attacks by determined enemy forces, the battalion command post and dump area was subjected to an enemy dive-bombing attack, the first bombs hitting an ammunition dump and setting it on fire. Corporal Barber, fearlessly and without regard for his own safety, rushed to the blaze and covered it with a tarpaulin. He then moved several cases of ammunition out of the flames and put the fire out with soil. His courageous and unhesitating action saved the battalion dump area from further concentrated bombing and probable destruction. His actions throughout were in keeping with the highest traditions of the Navy of the United States."

Former Resident's Son Ordained Priest

Word has been received in this city of the ordination to the priesthood of Thomas J. Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kelly of Denver, Colo.

His ordination will take place on Wednesday, June 21, in the chapel of the Immaculate at St. Mary's, Kansas City. Father Kelly will offer his first solemn mass at Loyola church, Denver, Colo.

Father Kelly's mother is a former New Castle girl, being the daughter of the late Mary Fitzgerald of South Greenwood avenue, this city.

It should be the duty of every citizen, regardless of his station in life, to know the correct manner of displaying the flag of his country and the proper method of showing his respect for it.

SALUTE TO THE FLAG

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag or when the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons present should face the flag and stand at attention. Those in uniform should salute. Men not in uniform should remove their headgear. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in a moving column is rendered at the moment the flag passes.

HOW AND WHEN TO DISPLAY IT

Organizations or individuals may, of course, display, in a proper manner, the National Flag either daily or as often as desired. The following days may be considered appropriate: New Year's Day (January 1); Lincoln's Birthday (February 12); Washington's Birthday (February 22); Easter Sunday (variable); Memorial Day (May 30); Flag Day (June 14); Independence Day (July 4); Labor Day (first Monday in September); Columbus Day (October 12); Armistice Day (November 11); Thanksgiving Day (variable); Christmas (December 25); and other appropriate local or national public or historical occasions of a military, civil or religious nature.

- Do not permit disrespect to be shown to the flag.
- Do not let the flag touch the ground, deck or water.
- Do not place any emblem or object of any kind on or above the flag except the authorized head staffs.
- Do not drape the flag over the hood, top, sides, or back of a vehicle, train or boat. When displayed from an automobile, or train, or vehicle, it should be from a staff firmly affixed.
- Do not display the flag on a float in a parade except from a staff.
- Do not use the flag as a covering for a ceiling.
- Do not carry the flag flat or horizontally but always aloft and free.
- Do not use the flag as a portion of costume or dress.
- Do not put lettering of any kind on the flag.
- Do not use the flag in any form of advertising or fasten any advertising to a pole or halyard from which the flag is flown.
- Do not use the flag festooned over doorways or arches, tied in a bow knot or otherwise employed in a purely decorative manner. For these purposes, bunting of the national colors is more appropriate, and since the blue Union is the flag's honor point, the bunting should be arranged with that color uppermost.
- Do not use the flag for any purpose lacking in dignity and respect.

Always treat the flag of a foreign nation with the same respect as that of the United States. The church pennant is the only flag ever to be hoisted over the flag. It is displayed only during divine services.

Displaying the flag upside down is a recognized signal of distress.

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. That is simple to see that one way to start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. Army Pilot Faces 30-Year Sentence

Captain Morrison J. Wilkinson Jr. Found Guilty By Court Martial Of Grave Charges

SANTA ANA, Cal., June 14—(INS)—Capt. Morrison J. Wilkinson Jr., army fighter pilot who served with the "Flying Tigers" in China, faced a sentence today of 30 years at hard labor following his conviction upon multiple charges of sex offenses, bigamy and larceny.

The finding of a 10-officer general court martial also ordered that he be dishonorably discharged from the service, but the two Silver Stars will not be stripped from his shoulders until the sentence has been approved by Brig. Gen. Martin Schoon, his commanding officer in the Western Flying Training Command; the Adjutant General's Office in Washington and the President.

The court took one hour, 35 minutes to find him guilty of statutory rape upon Caprice Capron, 17-year-old Earl Carroll daughter, bigamy; larceny; one count of assault with intent to commit rape and one of sodomy.

He was acquitted, however, of two counts of forcible rape—carrying a possible death penalty—upon the wife of a service man overseas; a count of lewd and lascivious conduct, and additional charges of sodomy and assault with intent to commit rape.

A short, husky officer with unruly black hair, Wilkinson took the verdict staunchly. A fraction of a second later a staff sergeant of military police clamped handcuffs on him and he was led from the courtroom at the Santa Ana Army Air Base.

DR. FLANNERY IS NAMED PRESIDENT

New Castle Lions club had its annual fathers and sons program in connection with the noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton Tuesday noon, when each member brought his son, or another boy as his guest for the day. Results of the election were announced. Dr. Wilbur E. Flannery, being named president for the coming year.

Other officers elected were: first vice president, Harvey B. Bush; second vice president, Charles Lunn; third vice president, S. Glenn McCracken; Tail Twister, Henry Broad; Lion Tamer, William McCombs; directors, two years, M. V. Hyde, Harry W. Helmick, and Paul Dingledy; Sky Pilot, James G. Leslie.

Boy Scout Executive Thomas G. Aloy spoke briefly on the work of the Boy Scouts, and the urgent need for assistance from the adults because of the great expansion in the movement which is occurring at the present time.

He stated that the records showed that as of the first of the year, there were 624 fewer troops in the country, with almost 14,000 more scouts. The growth in the first three months of the year has been the greatest in the history of the movement.

He stated that if the dads of the country had been the kind of fathers they should have been, there would be no need for the Boy Scout movement.

In conclusion, a talking picture was shown by E. D. Hawk, Boy Scout commissioner, depicting every phase of Boy Scout work, which was most interesting.

Two new members were received in Mayor John P. Haven and Joe D. Weller.

The report on the Blind Fund shows that to date, contributions amounting to $300 have been received, although the blind seals sent to individuals throughout the district were only put out recently.

Supplies for the Fifth War Loan Bond sale were distributed by Chairman Thuro Leivo. This evening, the Lions and Kiwanians are scheduled to play golf together.

Savoldi, Ex-Gridder, Now M.P. In Italy

Three Other Former Football Stars
In America Investigate
Crime Overseas

ALLIED FORCE ADVANCED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, Italy.—Four former football stars are playing on the same team here today—throwing blocks and tackling on Italian criminals and racketeers as members of the military police.

Best-known member of the quartet is "Jumpy" Joe Savoldi, one-time Notre Dame battering ram. Savoldi, who turned wrestler after his football career, is a special investigator in the black market division, and likes it so well he intends to remain in police work after the war.

The other three are Maj. Mike Mikulak, former Oregon and Chicago Cardinal back; Maj. Ralph Tolve, an all-southern at Alabama, and Lt. Bob Di Natale of Boston college. Working with them is August McCabe, who used to do a bit of football for Columbia in 1919.

They decreased the Naples traffic accident rate by 85 per cent and started a criminal investigation section that played havoc with counterfeit rings and black market gangs.

Bookmakers Are Very Sad Outfit

NEW YORK, June 14.—(INS).—The small-time bookmakers whose headquarters are in their hats or side pockets were missing from their usual hangouts today. It was reported that they couldn't pay off after a series of victories by longshots.

The unusual run of hardluck against the bookies had other ramifications too, which race track followers said contributed to the sudden absence of the boys with the scratch sheets.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia's drive against gambling was said to be the first underlying factor. This crusade sent the syndicates over to New Jersey.

But Attorney General Walter D. Van Riper, acting prosecutor of Hudson county, N. J., has been raiding alleged horse rooms in that area and so the bookies' representatives in New York have no place to go or report.

Meanwhile the betters who didn't collect are not happy.

Bedenk Hunting New Pitchers

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 14.—Coach Joe Bedenk, elated by Penn State's record of eight wins in eleven starts this spring, began a search today for new pitchers with which to undertake a five-game summer baseball schedule.

His two aces, Mike Wardrop of Bear Gap and Joe Gombeske of Nanticoke, will be graduated June 22. Wardrop, who was unbeaten in five starts and who boasts a collegiate mark of 11 wins in 13 appearances, will go into the service. Gombeske is looking forward to a medical career.

Marine P. W. Willie Proctor of Colorado, Neb., the third member of the front line staff, anticipates a new assignment.

The summer schedule follows: July 14, Colgate, away; 15, Colgate, away; 22, Bloomsburg Teachers, home; 29, Cornell, home; August 5, Cornell, away.

AROUND CITY HALL

Following the return from Cleveland yesterday of Councilman J. D. Alexander and Municipal Engineer John Z. Street after a conference with Havens and Emerson, consulting engineers for the city's disposal plant brought a conference here today. The city some time ago took bids for repairs to a sewer coursing from South Cedar street to the plant. The bids were so high it was decided best to construct a new sewer which the consulting engineers told the city officials Tuesday would necessitate a change in plans which they have to be prepared to handle would cost the city money, hence today's powwow here.

Cards Wallop Chicago Cubs

Maintain Five-Game Lead
Over Pirates, Senators
Drop Yanks To Seventh Place

NEW YORK, June 14.—(INS).—The St. Louis Cardinals today maintained their five-game edge over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League pennant race to keep that dash for the flag in the category of a potential run-away down the stretch.

Continuing their third pennant in a row, the Cardinals continue to outclass their field and persistently nudge ahead or hold their own against all comers.

Pirates Edge Reds.
The Pirates managed to prevent the Cards from lengthening the lead by beating the Cincinnati Reds in a curtailed contest yesterday afternoon 3 to 2.

When John Barrett, Frank Coleman and Al Lopez hit doubles in the fourth for the three runs, the Pirates overhauled the Reds, broke a 21-inning scoring drought and did it all just in time. Rain washed the game out after the fifth.

The Cardinals held their edge by defeating the Chicago Cubs in a night game, 8 to 3, with a 16-hit barrage.

The Brooklyn Dodgers capitalized on home runs by Dixie Walker, Frenchy Bordagaray and Howard Schultz to trounce the New York Giants 9 to 4.

The Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phillies split a doubleheader. The Braves won the opener, 2 to 1, and the Phillies took the nightcap, 8 to 7.

Senators Top Yanks.
In the American league, the Washington Senators defeated the New York Yankees for the second night in a row, 3 to 0, with Dutch Leonard hurling a seven-hit shut-out.

The Boston Red Sox won their sixth straight, beating the Philadelphia Athletics, 7 to 2, and the St. Louis Browns continued to set a hot pace with a 5 to 3 win over Chicago.

The Detroit-Cleveland contest was postponed.

BEATEN ONLY ONCE.
Walt Stenger, Penn State tennis ace, has lost only one singles match in two seasons of varsity competition.

Gai Liberatore, former Dean park American Legion baseball player, hopes to get a few baseball tips from Joe Gordon, now at Camp Lema, N. M., when he plays at Ft. Sumner, N. M., where the "Bomber" is located.

Over 40 members of the Elks Club assembled at the Sylvan Heights golf course last evening for the opening of the 1944 Elks Club Golf league and enjoyed a round of nine holes of golf. It was reported today by Al Garvin.

Garvin announced that two fine trophies have been donated to the league by Frank J. Hale, of the National Grain Yeast Corporation for the championship team, and by Councilman Joseph Alexander for the player winning the most matches in the season's play.

Low scorers last evening were: Frank Summers, 41; Bill Watkins, Ed. Long 43; Jack Court 43; Verne Carr 44.

The standing of the league for the first night: Marines 4, Seabees 4, Air Corps 4, Army 1, Navy 1, Coast Guard 1. The league will resume play next Tuesday night.

Young Zahniser who fought Johnny Kilbane in 1909 is seen almost daily along the highways of the city. He's a carpenter by trade. One of his fellow boxers of that day, Sam Terry, is a janitor at the United Engineering company.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Psychology plays an important role in baseball. Especially with the youngsters.

Rochester of the International league was playing an exhibition game with the Sampson naval team the other day. Vaughn Hazen, a Rochester rookie, had made only two hits in 17 trips to the plate during league competition.

As young Hazen went up to the plate for the first time against Sampson, a team-mate remarked: "You ought to hit the devil out of this sore-armed semi-pro pitcher."

Hazen bolted the first offering over the right field fence, a drive of some 400 feet.

"All you needed was to hit against some of the veterans after the kid had circled the bases."

"Whaddya mean, big league pitching?" inquired the youngster. "They told me that guy was a semi-pro from around here."

To be that he had hit his home run off the delivery of Hal White, who belongs to the Detroit Tigers. Hazen got the hitters. He popped up next time at bat.

"I was so busy studying that big leaguer's style I just couldn't keep my eye on the ball," Hazen explained.

Unbeaten Records On Line Saturday

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. June 14.—Two unbeaten records will be at stake Saturday when the Penn State tennis team invades Philadelphia to meet Penn in the last match on the spring schedule. The Lions have won five out of seven this season.

The unbeaten heimen are Apprentice Seaman Walt Stenger of Waynesboro, and Marine Pvt. Ed Meyer of Philadelphia. Stenger's seven wins this year plus two last year gives him a string of nine consecutive victories. Meyer swept the six matches in which he has competed this spring.

Meyer will still be available for the summer season, but Stenger expects to go to a new assignment at the end of the present semester. The Penn match may be his last for the duration.

PEP GETS DISCHARGE
Willie Pep, discharged from the Navy, hasn't fought since last June, and probably will require several months to tune up.

Year Ago Today: Don Heffner of the St. Louis Browns was sold to the Philadelphia Athletics. 19 Years Ago Today: Max Baer became a heavyweight king after technically knocking out Primo Camera in the 11th round of a 15-rounder before a crowd of 52,000 at Long Island City. 20 Years Ago: First Baseman George Kelly of the Giants hits three homers as Reds are beaten, 8 to 6.

Howard Fox, classy young pitcher and leader of the Birmingham mound staff of the Southern league, will tell you a pitcher doesn't have to take a long spring training grind to get in shape.

Fox did not join the Birmingham club this spring until the day before the season opened. He had ridden five days and five nights in a day coach, but he was ready to go to work, and he has been the main spring of the Baron staff all season.

Manager George Detore of San Diego in the Pacific Coast league should have more confidence in one of his young pitchers. Warren Messer, but only one of them was complete. He served almost exclusively in relief roles. It was the same story this year. He had appeared in 11 games, but never as a starter.

A few nights ago, Manager Detore decided to give him a crack at starting a game for himself. He pitched three-hit ball and scored a 2-0 win over Sacramento.

Incidentally, it was his first coast league victory. He had been charged with three defeats, two last year and one this season.

Blain Wilcox, one-armed pitcher for Waterford high, is to get a try-out with Jamestown in the Pony league. Youngest player to ever wear a major circuit uniform is Joe Nuxhall, 15, of Hamilton, O. He is a Cincy Red. Sammy Byrd won the $17,500 war bond golf meet at Philadelphia.

MAY BOX AS HEAVY
Billy Soose, former Penn State and professional middleweight puncher, may box as a heavy-weight after the war.

Penn State will play nine football games this fall, playing four at home and five away.

Army Corporal Wins From Sante Bucca

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—(INS).—Sante Bucca, 133½, pounder from South Philadelphia, stepped down from the ranks of the undefeated today following his seventh round knockout by Cpl. Jackie Floyd of Camp Lee, Va., in their scheduled 10-frame meeting at the Philadelphia outdoor arena.

Three left hooks to the jaw sent Bucca to the resin for the full count in 126 of the seventh, to end his 23-hour victory streak. Floyd, who weighed in at 12½, fought throughout the match with a hatch over his left eye, to snare his 11th pro win.

Shenango Pottery Wallops Alcoas
11 To 2 Behind Laitenen's
Steady Hurling

Scoring 10 runs in the first inning off Dean, the Shenango Pottery team won a City Baseball league game yesterday from the Alcoas, 11 to 2, at Booker T. Washington field.

After the first inning fiasco Dean settled down and pitched himself a nice game, but the damage had been done. The Alcoas could not hit Laitenen when his meant runs. Thomas featured the game for the Pottery with a screaming homer, and he also had a single. Hitting doubles were Ross, Knight, Dean, Tanner and Cunningham.

Laitenen had the only triple of the game. The Pottery by the win clung on the heels of the league-leading Moose with their eighth win against two setbacks.
